

Summer Stroll on the Mile on June 13

Posted By ATLCheap on June 11, 2010

This looks like a fun event:

On Sunday, June 13, you can take a Summer Stroll on the Mile. From noon-4:00 p.m., Atlanta's Midtown Mile (Peachtree Street between North Avenue and the High Museum), will host an afternoon of free family-friendly activities. To name a few.

There'll be a bounce house at Colony Square, cupcake decorating at 999 Peachtree, story telling at the Margaret Mitchell House, a puppet factory with the Center for Puppetry arts, magicians, face painters, & more. And there'll be live country-rock music featuring Stovall at the North Avenue Presbyterian Church and live music & plein-air artists at the 15th St. Plaza.

Even better: there's free parking at 1010 Midtown, 999 Peachtree, Viewpoint, and Spire. Click here for more details & a map of the events.

[editorial]

[The Reynolds Group Inc.] [www.thereynoldsgroupinc.com]